

last of the cinders and turn to the door. there was a pungent smell of smoke in the room. she wondered if she wold ever be able to cross that swaying, seething floor to oprn the window. She closed her